from: Deutsche Börse Commodities GmbH

June 2016

Each unit of Xetra-Gold® grants the investor the right to demand delivery of one gram of gold. This right can be exercised in three different ways.

1. Exercise against delivery of Retail gold bars of fineness 999,9/000 and weights between 1 g and 1 kg;
2. Exercise against delivery of London Good Delivery gold bars of fineness 995/000 and weights from 350 and 430 ounces (approximately 10,9 kg – 13,4 kg);
3. Exercise of delivery against payment of the equivalent amount of gold deposited.

This document provides details on the execution of the exercising process, on the information required by the intermediate custodian of the investor's principal bank to ensure a smooth exercising processing, and on the expected fees for the investor.

Description of the exercise process

Certain information is required in order to execute the exercise request. Investors must provide this information to their principal bank.

- Name of applicant
- Name of consultant and address of applicant's principal bank (custodian)
- Number of exercised Xetra-Gold units
- Confirmation that the applicant is not prohibited by law, ordinance, articles of association or investment guidelines from owning physical gold (relevant to institutional investors).

If the latter is answered in the negative (i.e. gold may be delivered), the following details relating to the type of gold delivery should be provided to the bank:

- Required moulding (London Good Delivery gold bars or retail gold bars with a weight from 1g to 1000g) – London Good Delivery gold bars at 12.5 kg each can only be selected if 13,400 Xetra-Gold units or more are exercised.

- If the applicant selects retail gold bars, the required amount of bars with the following weight 1g, 5g, 10g, 20g, 50g, 100g, 250g, 500g and 1000g should be stipulated.
- If London Good Delivery gold bars were selected, the form the difference between the number of exercised Xetra-Gold® units and the weight in grams of the delivered London Good Delivery gold bars is to be made up should be stipulated. Applicants may choose either to receive the differential amount in retail gold bars or to have it transferred back in Xetra-Gold® units. In the latter case, they should stipulate the securities account to which the Xetra-Gold® units should be retransferred.

The investor's principal bank should supply the following details as well:

- Name of the branch willing to take delivery of the gold during normal business hours (point of delivery)
- Contact at branch with phone, fax and e-mail address
- Declaration by the bank that it will assume all fees resulting from the settlement of the exercising request.

Step-by-step description of exercise

The exercising request is prepared and signed by the representative of the principal bank together with the investor.

Clearstream Banking AG will put an exercising form on its website for Clearstream clients to use to instruct the main underwriter (Deutsche Bank AG) to have the desired quantity and denomination of gold delivered to the point of delivery. In this respect, the process is identical to the one for the delivery of physical certificates.

The exercising request completed by the custodian who maintains an account with Clearstream Banking AG is to be sent to Deutsche Bank AG at the following address.

Deutsche Bank AG
„Ausübung Xetra-Gold“
CIB-Global Banking
Trust & Securities Services
Grosse Gallusstrasse 10 – 14
60311 Frankfurt am Main

At the same time, the custodian transfers the number of units of Xetra-Gold held by the investor and to be released to a blocked account of Deutsche Börse Commodities on a free-of-payment (FOP) basis.

Delivery will be initiated if Deutsche Bank receives the securities and the application form by 10 a.m. CET. As a rule it takes one to two weeks to deliver retail gold bars and four days for London Good Delivery gold bars from date of ordering. As soon as the delivered gold arrives at the point of delivery, the Xetra-Gold® units are removed and recovered from the "Ausübungskonto DBCo" (DBCo exercise account).

Due to the provisions of the Money Laundering Act (Geldwäschegesetz) only the branch of a bank may be used as point of delivery. Investors expecting a large delivery of gold should contact their principal bank to discuss the transfer of the gold to the point of delivery.

Delivery costs

The total price for exercising contains the costs charged by Umicore AG & Co. AG for refining, moulding, packing, and sending the gold to the point of delivery, as well as transport insurance and VAT. The investor should bear these costs which will be collected through the custody administration fees levied by Clearstream Banking.
